Hello and welcome to Fall!

School is back and the new year is underway. As you continually work to improve how your students learn with the tools provided to teachers, we too are working hard to make Skooler the best in class product you have come to love.

In our latest update, we:

- Upgraded our lesson plan tool
- Enhanced our message tool to improve home-school communication
- And published our latest blogpost on Skooler Kudos

COMING VERY SOON..... IT'S THE ABILITY TO DEPLOY SKOOLER FROM WITHIN TEAMS ITSELF!

Want to stay in the know? Join the Center for Learning Excellence and be the first to know, influence future features and access early betas .We'll be hosting a series of webinars with our partner Microsoft. Registration is free.

BLOG

Good communication help create a positive learning environment and builds a stronger and more trusting relationship between teachers and students.

Being "seen and heard" by a teacher can motivate students to participate more in the learning process. This month, our blog is about the tool Skooler Kudos.

WE ARE WORKING ON.....

- Add form for reply options in the messaging tool.
- Simplify the process of creating and publishing plans.
- Enter search fields to search for teachers in the planning tool.
- Give Skooler Kudos to the entire class, not just individually.
- General bug-fixes and improvements
