We are very impressed with how teachers and students are constantly adapting to a new school life during COVID-19 times! At Skooler we are rooting for you and are here to help and assist along the way. Skooler's learning tools are designed with many features that support the needs of both students and teachers to engage successfully in a distance learning program and we have included some news that we hope will be helpful for you.

SPRING RELEASE

We have launched our spring release with exciting news, updates and new editions. See our release letter here:
